

Mosquito Drive

This is a cheap and easy fundraiser, perfect for kids but adults can have a lot of fun too! Based on the traditional beetle drive it requires very little to put on and organise.

How to play Mosquito

The aim of the game of Mosquito is to be the first player to draw a complete Mosquito. The body parts are each given a number.

- 6 - The Body - (1 per Mosquito)
- 5 - The Head - (1 per Mosquito)
- 4 - The Wings - (2 per Mosquito)
- 3 – Legs - (6 per Mosquito)
- 2 – Eyes - (2 per Mosquito)
- 1 – Antenna - (4 per Mosquito)

Players take turns to roll a die and can add the corresponding body part to their mosquito.

They must however throw a 6 first for the body before they can add any other part.

Players may only add the correct number of body parts to their Mosquito for instance only 2 wings. A further throw of number 4 resulting in no addition and the die being passed on.

Some player's mosquito will be drawn quite rapidly other players will flounder unable to throw the correct score on the die to complete their mosquito.

The minute one player has completed their picture they shout Mosquito and that is the end of that game.

How to organise a Mosquito Drive

Players sit around tables in groups of four.

Each player has a sheet, usually with 9 or 12 boxes, in which to draw their mosquito.

On "GO" the game starts with each group of players trying furiously to complete their mosquitos. The minute any player in the room complete their mosquito they shout "MOSQUITO" and the whole room stops immediately.

All players then add up the number of body parts they have added to their own Mosquito scoring one point for each part to a maximum of 14 for a completed mosquito.

The highest scorer from each table then moves to the next table in a clockwise direction whilst the lowest scorer moves anti-clockwise.

When everyone is sitting at their new tables the organiser shouts "GO" another round is played.

This continues for up to 12 rounds if time allows.

Each player keeps a running total of their scores and at the end of the last round the person with the highest score is crowned Champion / King or Queen of the Mosquitos/ Golden Mosquito and given an appropriate prize.

During play, winners of individual rounds could also be given small prizes

To raise money charge each player a set amount for their Mosquito Sheet. You will also have to provide a die and pencils for each table.

Remembering the fundraiser's mantra - "If you see a crowd sell 'em something"

Don't forget to then sell refreshments, hold a raffle and have a stall of other fundraising products for people to buy.
